Before you tell me about you, let me explain a bit about how I work:

- All sites will be built in WordPress which will give you content management abilities.
- I'm a big believer in your participation and training. My expertise is in building a beautiful, functional site, designed for your specific needs. I will create the structure, but for the most part, I expect you to add the content. I will be there for every step and guide you, but there is no point in having a content management system if you don't know how to login, edit and add pages. This will mean a time & training commitment on your part.
- All sites will be built to be "responsive" so that they work on smaller screens well.
